The solid content for NTank8 is based on our sample or a sample received by Lonestar? Do we need to get a sample for Lonestar?

Will Lonestar not take it at all or will it just cost more?

Gary,

Happy New Year, getting back to you on the status of waste removal for CES:

FT1004: Received approval into Lonestar today. There will be additional costs for pretreatment of waste to get the smell under control. I don't have that rate yet but it will be far cheaper than incineration. Getting this ready for next week.

South Tank 7 Approved into Lonestar today. I have asked that we ship next week.

North Tank 7 I am waiting on Demita to get back to me on acceptance into Lonestar since it's 60-80% water based on the sample Clean Harbors received.

North Tank 8 LeRoy, yourself and I need to discuss how we are going to handle this (i.e. filter etc.) Right now my only option is to incinerate based on solid content.

As far as the roll-offs and FT5180 are concerned I haven't see any data come in for these yet. Let me know if you have any other questions.

Thanks,

Beth Crawford
